Case No.: 5:24-cv-02435-EKL

JOINT STIPULATION AND ~~PROPOSED~~ ORDER ON PATENT ISSUES
[RE ECF No. 144]

Following the hearing on May 14, 2025, the Court directed the parties to “file a joint stipulation and proposed order setting forth a timeline and framework for disclosure of the parties’ contentions regarding patent claims and product coverage,” and, if the parties are not able to reach agreement, to provide different proposals and request the Court’s assistance to resolve the dispute. ECF No. 144; ECF No. 147 at 29:2–10, 32:4–7.

Plaintiff/Counter-Defendant Number 14 B.V. (“Number 14”), and Defendants/Counterclaimants Analog Devices, Inc. and Maxim Products, Inc. (collectively, “Defendants”), jointly report that they have reached an agreement in terms of structure, content, and timing of their exchanges of contentions.

The parties HEREBY STIPULATE to the following to facilitate narrowing of the patent issues in this case:

1. Number 14 will serve on Defendants a preliminary identification of which claims of the four Licensed Patents¹ are utilized by which of Defendants’ products (by die number) (the “Number 14’s Preliminary Product Mapping”). This identification is merely to facilitate narrowing the issues between the parties in this litigation; Number 14 does not concede that it bears any burden to identify or prove that any particular product embodies or is covered by any claim of any patent to prevail on any claim for relief in the Complaint (ECF No. 1). Number 14 will undertake this identification in good faith using the information presently available to it, but the parties recognize that Number 14’s designation is preliminary, in view of Defendants’ confidentiality designations for documents that have been produced to date and the fact that Defendants possess additional technical documentation that has not yet been produced that may be relevant. (Defendants have stated that some of the documents showing what technology is incorporated in the products at issue will need to be produced under a Stipulated Source Code Protocol. See Stipulated Protective Order (ECF No. 90) § 8.)

2. For each product covered by the die numbers provided in Number 14’s Preliminary Product Mapping, Defendants will serve on Number 14 an identification of each limitation of each claim that Defendants contend is not found or present in that product along with an explanation of why such limitation is not included either literally or under the doctrine of equivalents (“Defendants’ Non-infringement Contentions”). To the extent Defendants articulate how a set of product part numbers or die numbers share the same or substantially the same qualities such that they, according to Defendants’ theory, do not possess the claim limitation in the same way, Defendants may treat those products as “representative.” Uniloc USA Inc. v. LG Elecs. USA Inc., No. 5:18-cv-06738-LHK-SVK, 2019 WL 8809732, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 4, 2019) (citing Bender v. Maxim Integrated, Inc., No3:09-cv-01152-SI, 2010 WL 1135762, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 22, 2010)); see also Network Prot. Scis., LLC v. Fortinet, Inc., No. C 12-01106 WHA, 2013 WL 5402089, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 26, 2013) (approving representative contentions where “adequate analysis” shows “products share the same critical characteristics”).

3. For each patent claim identified in Number 14’s Preliminary Product and Claim Mapping, Defendant will serve their Invalidity Contentions in accordance with the Court’s Patent L.R. 3-3.

4. The parties request that the following events and dates in the Court’s May 14, 2025 Amended Case Management & Scheduling Order (ECF No. 145) be adjusted to accommodate the sequence of disclosures specified above: (1) Defendants’ invalidity contentions, (2) the parties’ exchange of proposed terms for claim construction, and (3) the parties’ joint statement regarding proposed terms for construction. The parties therefore stipulate and request the Court to modify the schedule as shown below:

Event	Current Date (ECF No. 145)	Proposed Deadline
